BEER DESCRIPTIONS

Heineken Light - A slightly bitter pale lager that has a crisp, clean thirst-quenching, and refreshing taste from the light-calorie beer that has a light body that maintains the subtle cues of Heineken Premium Lager signature flavor and low hop bitterness.

Sprecher Bavarian Black - Known as a “schwarzbeir” or dark German lager, with medium to light body and moderate maltiness. These intense, black-colored beers are actually cleaner and much lighter bodied than their appearance suggests and contains a firm sweetness with hints of caramel and chocolate.

Sprecher Hefeweiss - This is a coarse filtered wheat ale that is fermented with a German yeast culture for a refreshingly light spiciness and hints of citrus fruit. A cloudy appearance and an immense creamy head are characteristic of this lightly hopped Bavarian brew.

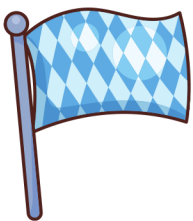

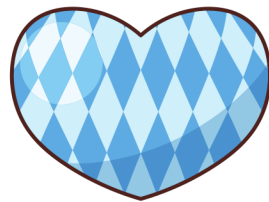

Sprecher Oktoberfest - Traditionally brewed to celebrate the harvest season, this reddish-brown lager has a rich caramel character and a long flavorful finish. Its delicious malty sweetness is nicely accented by a slightly fruity bouquet and a mild hop flavor.
